

Men do 'wrong to lament the flight of time,
complaining that it passes too quickly and failing to perceive that its period is sufficiently long; but a good memory, with which nature
had endowed us, causes everything that is long
past to appear to us to be present.

LEONARDO DA
VINCI